1. INTRODUCTION

a) What is Workforce Planning?

Workforce planning is a continuous process of planning for and effectively dealing with future human resource issues and ensuring the workforce is capable of delivering organisational objectives now and into the future.

Workforce planning needs to be integrated with the strategic and operational planning process to ensure the alignment of strategies to continuously deliver the right people in the right place at the right time. An integral part of workforce planning is the development and implementation of policies and practices to enhance the effectiveness of the workforce.

It can be difficult to predict what will be needed in the future in terms of staffing levels required. Preparation is the key to maximising future options, minimising the long term cost of labour and minimising risks.

There is no single model for workforce planning. It is about analysing the current workforce, and then extending that analysis to identify the future skills and competencies needed to deliver new and improved services. The comparison between the current workforce and the desired future workforce will highlight shortages, surpluses and competency gaps, whether these are due to external pressures or internal factors. These gaps become the focus for a detailed workforce plan, identifying and implementing strategies that will build the relevant skills and capacity needed.

The Human Resources section in conjunction with senior management, are responsible for the development, implementation and review of the Workforce Plan.

This Workforce Plan focuses on these responsibilities through six (6) key areas:-

1. Employee Attraction and Retention;
2. Employee Training, Learning and Development;
3. Organisational Development;
4. Performance Management;
5. Work Health and Safety (WH&S); and
6. Employee Relations.

TABLELANDS REGIONAL VISION

To build and maintain sustainable communities while retaining the region's natural beauty

COUNCIL'S MISSION

To provide services and facilities to enhance the quality of life and economic viability within the Council area

COUNCIL'S AIM

To perform services in a cost efficient, effective and friendly manner in order to achieve Council's Mission in meeting the annual objectives and performance targets of the principal activities Council undertakes on behalf of the community

b) Executive Summary

The Workforce Plan has been formulated in accordance with the requirements of the Local Government Act 1993. The Upper Lachlan Shire Council's aim is to provide services and facilities to enhance the quality of life and economic viability within the Council. The Council supports persons from diverse social, economic and cultural backgrounds.

The Upper Lachlan Shire Council Workforce Plan supports the achievement of strategic goals in the Tablelands Regional Community Strategic Plan 2016-2036 and Council Delivery Program by focusing attention on the important people issues within the Council. The plan provides a workforce approach, which supports managers and employees to effectively utilise the Council's human talent to achieve the goals of the Council and individual employees now and in the future.

Staffing accounts for a significant component of the Council's operating budget and therefore, a workforce approach to the management of people at Upper Lachlan Shire Council is critical. The Council's future success depends upon the skills, energy and commitment of its employees. Consequently, the Council must attract, develop and retain employees of the highest quality and provide a working environment that will enable employees to maximise their contribution to the achievement of the Council's Vision, Mission and Values.

Upper Lachlan Shire Council recognises the importance of the contribution of the individual and the consequent obligation to provide a safe, supportive and stimulating work environment for all its employees. These issues will fundamentally drive the Human Resource function and will provide the focus for the Upper Lachlan Shire Council Workforce Plan.

Council's achievements are primarily attributable to its key resource - its staff. The employee's hard work and long hours are much appreciated by the community.

Council staff continues to persevere in their commitment to customer service and continuous improvement. The Workforce Plan will act as the stratagem to carry on achieving the needs and expectations of the community within the resources available to Council.

c) Human Resource Value Statement

The Workforce Plan supports the values of the Council. The Council will provide a workforce approach to the management of its people through:-

- Providing a clear workforce focus for workforce management;
- Ensuring that human resource policies and practices provide transparency, honesty and fairness in the management of its people;
- Ensure all employees are provided with adequate resources, such as training and work health and safety equipment;
- Promoting leadership, coaching and supporting managers to effectively manage their employees;
- The promotion and adherence to equal employment opportunity objectives;
- Creating a safe, supportive and equitable work environment for employees which sustains high levels of satisfaction, empowerment, commitment and accountability; and
- Maximising the Council's return on its human investment.

d) General

Council must adopt a Workforce approach to the management of its people. A clear workforce focus in human resource management will align the Council's productive culture and organisational structure with its business strategy to ensure that the Council achieves its Vision, Mission and Values.

Effective utilisation of the Council's human resources is of paramount importance if the Council is to gain benefits from its industrial arrangements and supporting human resources policies. These arrangements and policies offer a framework to improve the Council's performance through efficiency, flexibility and responsiveness of a productive, high quality workforce; whilst ensuring that the Council conducts its affairs efficiently, and in a manner which emphasises educational, social and financial responsibility.

In order to ensure workforce capability meets changing workforce needs, demographic shifts and legislative requirements, Council will address the issue of the changing work environment through flexibility measures in employment and redeployment options. The current industrial arrangements and supporting human resources policies provide for flexibility to utilise these tools to meet both the needs of the Council and the individual employee.

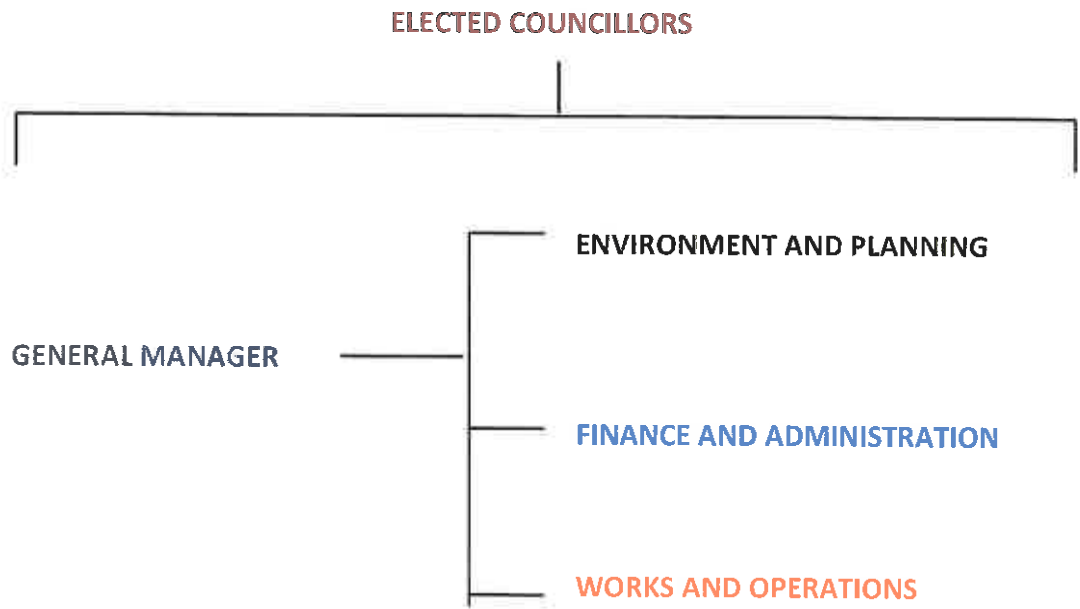

Employee attraction and retention, equal opportunity and anti-discrimination, employee learning and development, performance management, workplace health and safety, employee relations, workforce staffing, the Human Resource Management System (HRMS) and client services are principles underpinning workforce human resource management at the Council and will be addressed later in this plan.

e) Organisation Structure

The Upper Lachlan Shire Council organisational structure is determined by the elected Councillors. It is the General Manager’s responsibility to advise the Council on the most appropriate structure, subject to resources and in consideration of the Council’s operations and activities.

The General Manager, in performing his functions, is supported by a defined senior management structure, which in turn is supported by various Managers, Supervisors and staff within each Department.

The current organisational / management structure has three defined Departments (Directorates) reporting to the General Manager as follows:-

Whilst the General Manager is responsible for the day to day management of Council operational activities and functions, each Department’s Director and Managers have a range of responsibilities and identified performance targets to achieve in order to meet the objectives set by Council. The Council’s performance measures are determined annually in the adoption of the Operational Plan.

2. HUMAN RESOURCE WORKFORCE PLANNING

a) Why undertake Human Resource Workforce Planning?

In essence, workforce planning is about predicting future labour needs. It requires an understanding of the make-up of the current workforce, an investigation into future service needs and analysis of the type and size of workforce required to meet them. It is becoming increasingly important for councils as they adopt new ways of operating in order to adapt to changes, such as:-

- A whole of government approach to service delivery
- New technologies and business systems, including electronic self-service, on-line transactions and integrated HR data systems
- A corporate service efficiency emphasis through centralised operations, including shared service delivery
- An ageing council workforce and tighter labour markets in some sectors.

To serve the community as efficiently as possible Council need the right people with the right skills and aptitudes. The development and maintenance of a Workforce Plan will enable the Council to focus on the medium and long term and at the same time provide a framework for dealing with immediate challenges in a consistent manner.

Utilising information gathering processes such as the Community Engagement Strategy and Employee Survey, Council has identified strategic priorities that are important to the community and members of Council's workforce. These processes have provided a means by which Council can assess its strengths and weaknesses and the resources and improvements needed to maintain and improve service delivery into the future.

Human Resources, in conjunction with management, will strive to ensure the necessary services, processes and protocols are in place to enable staff to perform at their best, be safe and satisfied with their work and be appropriately trained and remunerated.

The activities of the Human Resources Section seek to ensure that employees work in an environment which is in accordance with the Council's values, the relevant legislative requirements and best practice.

The Workforce Plan is designed to give a planned focus to human resource activities to support the achievement of Council's stated objectives and to maximise the return to Council on its human investment.

Each year an Operational Plan incorporating details of strategies, timeframes and desired outcomes, will be developed to ensure progress towards the achievement of the broad Workforce objectives. In developing the Operational Plan consideration will be given to the most appropriate change management techniques, in response to resource, works and services delivery priorities set by Council and management.

To achieve the timeframes for completion a commitment by management and the Human Resources Section will be required.

The Workforce Plan is designed to support the following 5 Council objectives:

1. "To be a responsible employer"
2. "Working together as a team"
3. "Fairness to all, an impartial performance assessment"
4. "Become an employer of choice"
5. "Promote Health and Safety"

3. WHAT SHOULD UPPER LACHLAN SHIRE COUNCIL BE DOING?

a) Linking the Workforce Plan to the Community Strategic Plan

Human resource section is controlled by the General Manager, who is responsible for the employment of all staff. Individual Department Directors are responsible for the day-to-day management of staff within their departments. Training Plans are developed by the Human Resources Coordinator in conjunction with the Department Directors.

The Workforce Plan has identified the following goals:-

Community Strategic Plan – Strategic Pillars

The Workforce Plan goals integrate to the Community Strategic Plan Strategic Pillars which are as follows:-

- Community – Resilient and adaptable communities, people attaining health and wellbeing and community liaison to preserve and enhance community facilities;

- Economy – A prosperous economy with the balanced use of our land;
- Infrastructure – Responsible and efficient use of resources and a built environment enhancing the lifestyle of a diverse community; and
- Civic Leadership – Transparent and accountable governance.

Council has a clear and concise focus to address the areas in its Workforce Plan by carrying out the following initiatives to address the identified gaps:-

- Maximise avenues to attract, develop and retain talented employees to address the current and future skill gaps at the Upper Lachlan Shire Council;
- Address emerging workforce issues such as skills shortages and an ageing workforce;

- Human resources policies, procedures and standards;
- Prioritise and address workplace risks, health and safety;

- Consultative and open organisational communication processes.

b) What does the community need and expect from its Council?

The Council Workforce Plan will act as the stratagem to carry on achieving the needs and expectations of the ever growing Shire within the resources available to Council. The plan will assist Council in delivering the services and program actions outlined in the Community Strategic Plan and Delivery Program over a four year period.

The Workforce Plan has identified the following key areas that have been integrated within Council's individual principal activities and performance measures:-

- Employee Attraction and Retention;
- Employee Training, Learning and Development;
- Organisational Development;
- Performance Management;
- Work, Health and Safety; and
- Employee Relations.

Council has undertaken an analysis of the current organisation and identified within the key areas on how it will address future workforce issues.

4. WHAT DO WE KNOW ABOUT THE CURRENT WORKFORCE

In this report the current staffing levels are divided into the following categories, by Council Department, employment type, age, gender, retirees and turnover. This identifies potential staff shortfalls into the future.

When completing these charts Council needs to identify those positions which are critical for the ongoing function of Council and needs to consider the following steps:-

Step 1

- a. Review the Organisational Structure appropriate to each Section.
- b. Identify all Critical, Specialist and Key Positions.
- c. Review the employees and their Position that are over 55 years of age.
- d. Review the employees and their Position that are 50 to 55 years of age.

Step 2

- a. Analyse to identify the criticality of the Position.
- b. Is the Position unique (i.e. has the person got specialist skills)?
- c. What is the specialist skills required for the Position?
- d. Does another employee have those skills or could they acquire them?
- e. Will the Position and Organisation Structure have to be changed?
- f. How 'available' are these skills?
 - Other employees.
 - Other industries.
 - Is there a skills shortage?
 - How hard would it be to recruit the Position?
 - Is intensive training needed?
 - Is a Trainee needed?

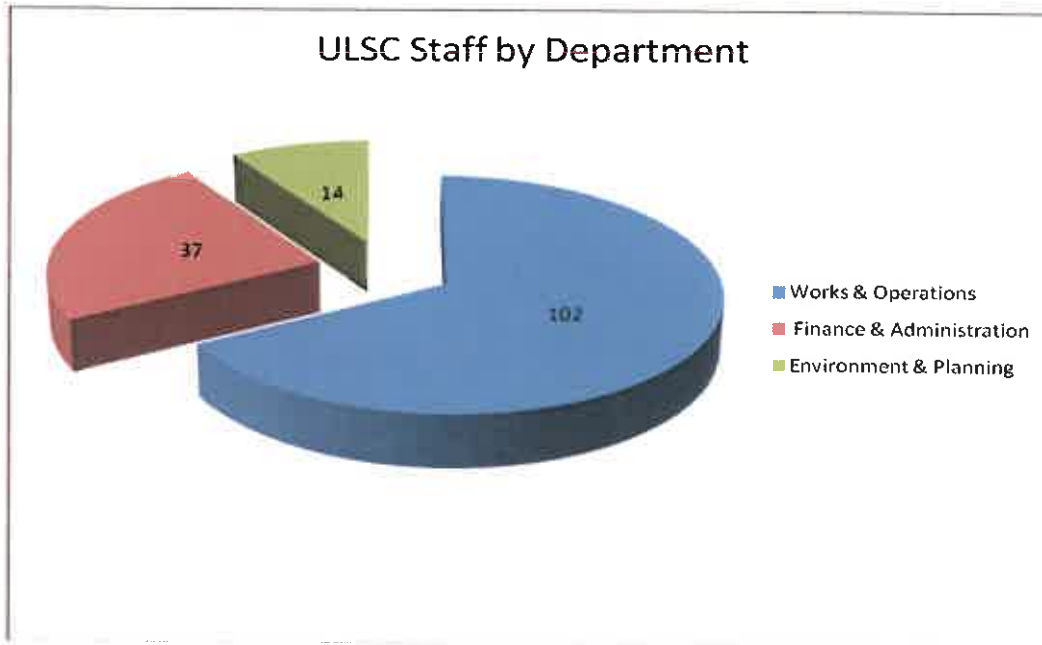

Step 3

Design a Succession Plan for each identified 'Critical Position'.

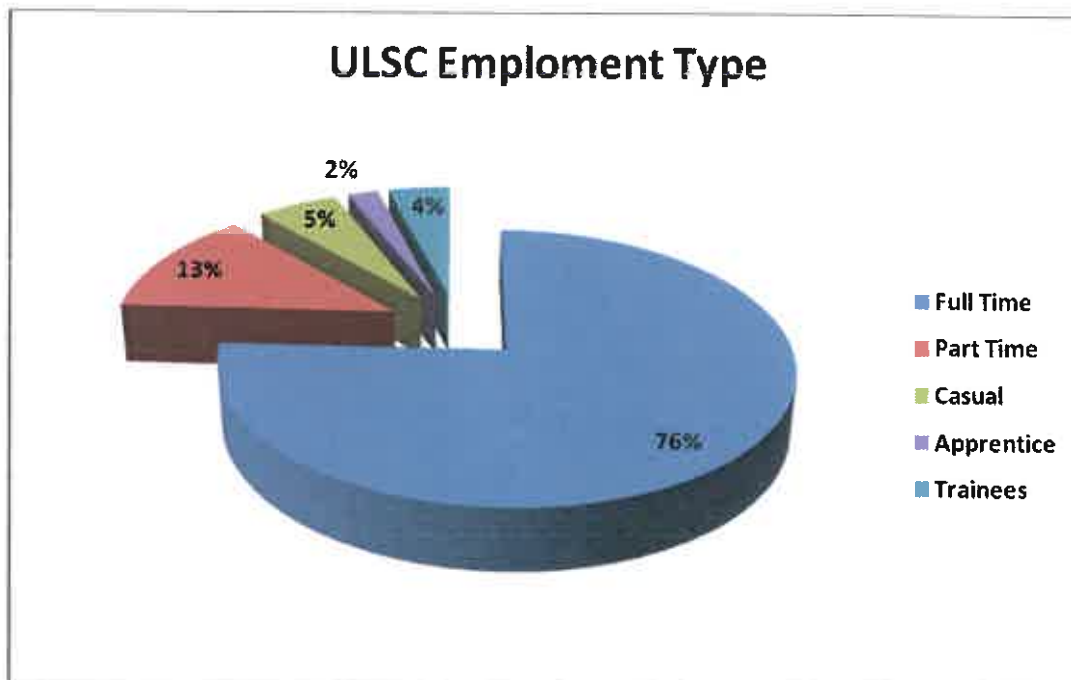

Upper Lachlan Shire Council - 2016/2017 Employment Statistics

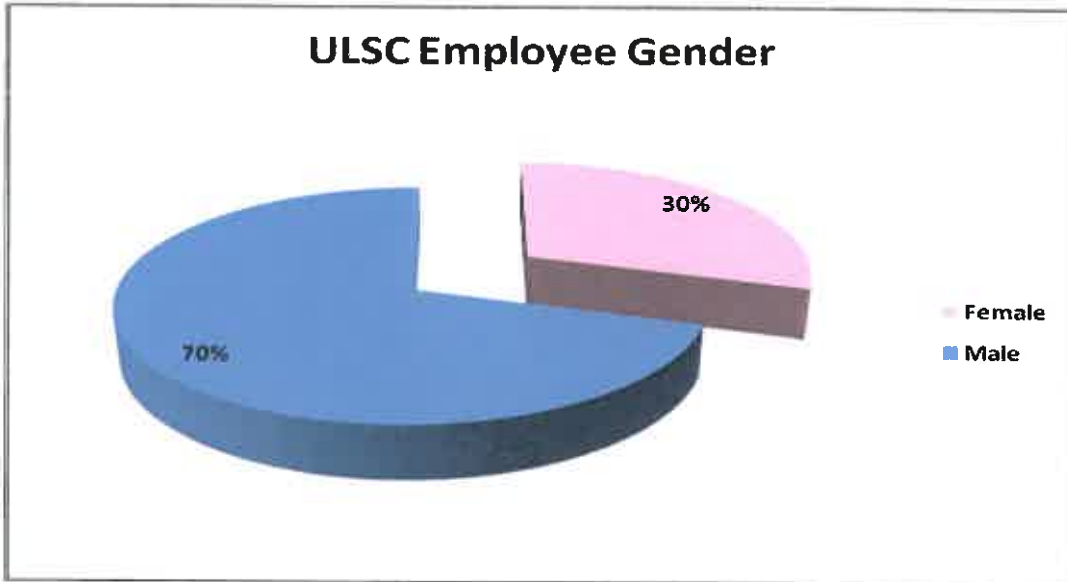

- a. The Upper Lachlan Shire Council structure is made up of the three Departments, (1) Works and Operations, (2) Finance and Administration, (3) Environment and Planning.

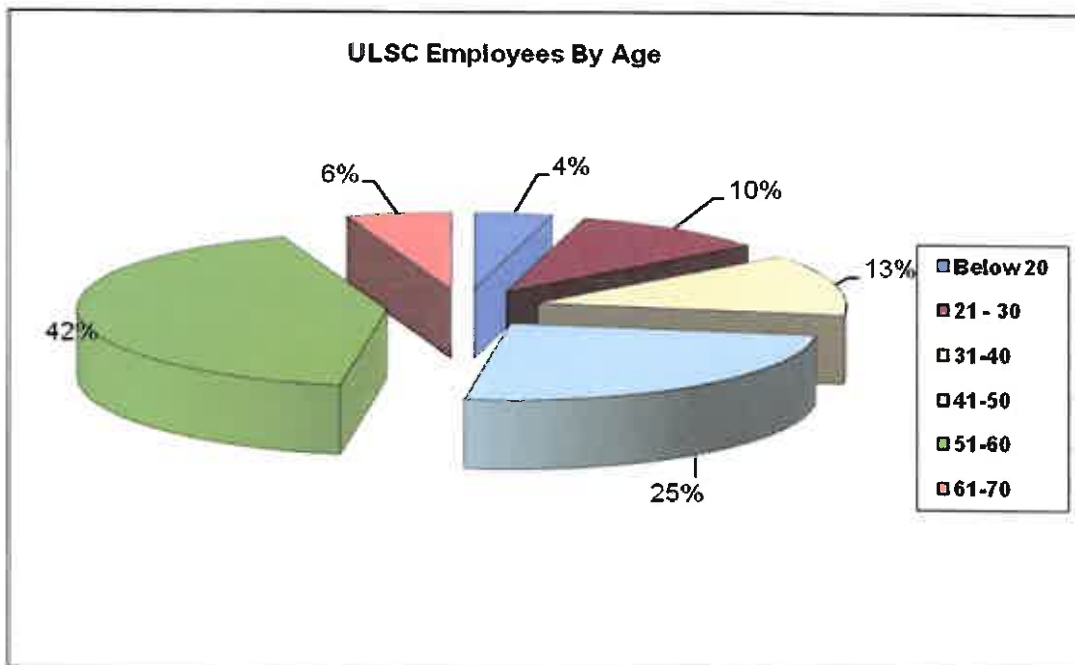

- b. Upper Lachlan Shire Council currently employ 152 staff members in total across five employment arrangements that suit the efficiency of the organisation. The breakdown shows 106 full-time, 24 part time, 13 casual, 3 apprentices and 6 trainees. Council's full-time equivalent staff numbers totals 133.

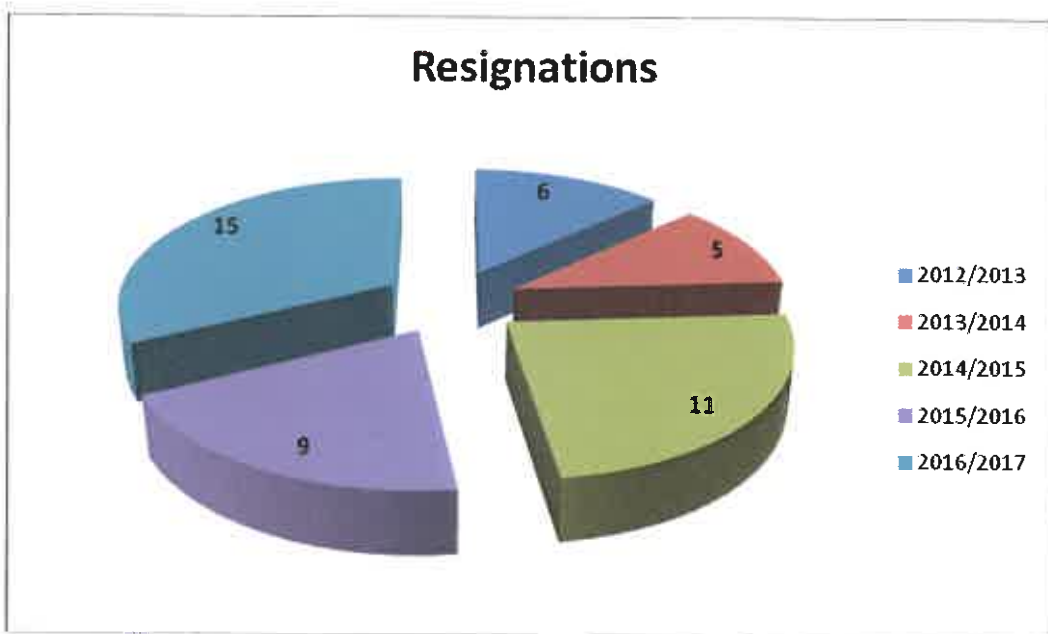

- c. The breakdown of Council employees by gender shows that 30% of the organisation is comprised of female employees across the three Departments, with the majority of these employees in the Finance and Administration Department.

- d. The most critical element within Council is the demographics collated on the age profile of the organisation. As can be clearly viewed this has become a critical issue over the next three to five years if Council does not have an effective Workforce Plan set in place to address the skill shortage in the future. The majority of these positions (in the green), 51 to 60 age bracket are in supervisory roles, up to senior management positions.

- e. The staff turnover to date for 2016/2017 is 15 which has been an increase on previous years.

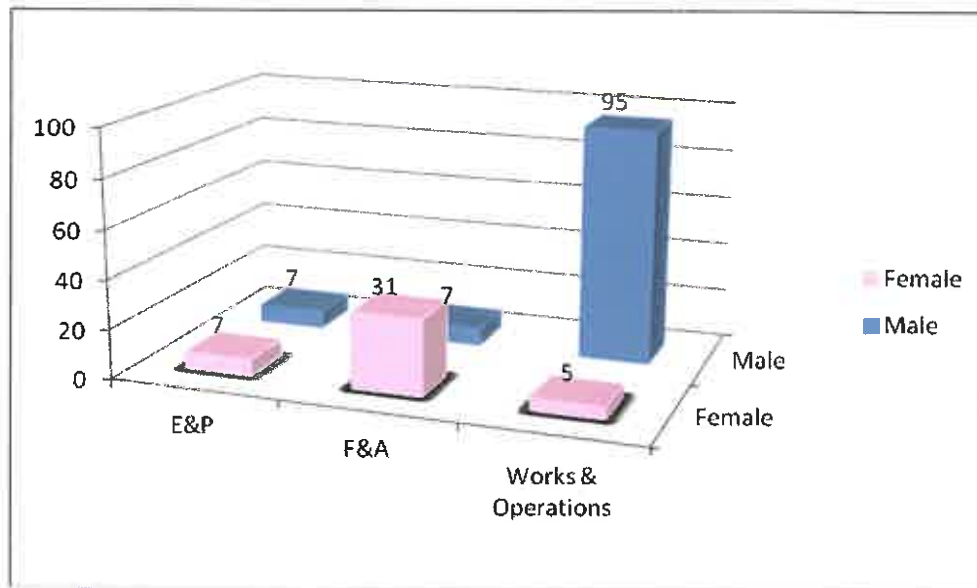

- f. As this diagram clearly shows, the retiree numbers this year have increased over the past three years with currently 8 staff members have retired in 2016/2017.

g) Employee Gender Analysis

As at June 2017 the staff numbers (head count) for Council employees by gender (includes employment status) is represented as follows:-

The break down in gender through the three Departments is shown as follows:-

All Employees	Male	Female	Total
Total	119	43	152

5. THE PLANNING CYCLE

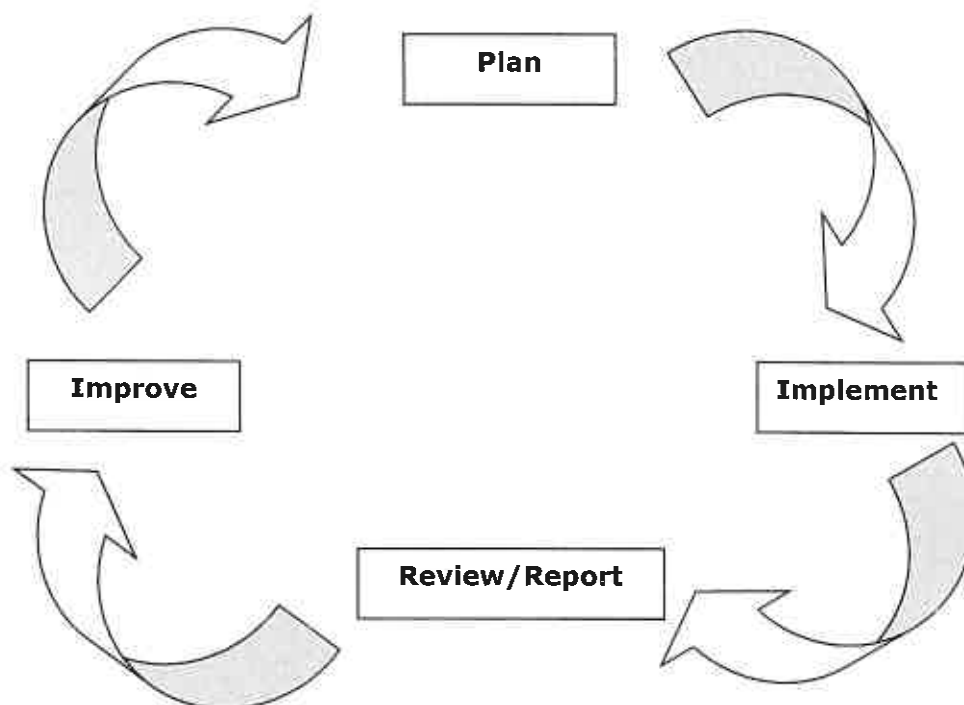

The planning cycle in the Human Resources section consists of four stages – plan, implement, review / report and improve.

1. Plan

What do we want to achieve? How can we achieve it?

Planning will be conducted by the Human Resources Coordinator in conjunction with senior management on an annual basis. The Workforce Plan is developed to cover a four year cycle, with a mid-term review. The Operational Plan will be developed each year and reviewed quarterly to ensure progress towards implementing performance measures. The four year Delivery Program will be reviewed each six months. Council's Strategic Plans and Operational Plan will be realistic, achievable and based on workforce and operational priorities. When formulating the Operational Plan, current projects will take priority over the introduction of new projects.

Each Department Director will formulate and implement an annual work plan for their area of responsibility based around the five key Strategic Pillars of Council; being Community, Environment, Economy, Infrastructure and Civic Leadership. The work plan will consider human resources implications as part of the overall performance management process for each principal activity of Council.

2. Implement

Implementation of the Workforce Plan

Implementation of the Workforce Plan is considered vital to the effective operation of the Council. Each member of the management team is expected to implement human resource activities in accordance with all Council's integrated plans to support Council priorities and achievement of the Strategic Priorities and Goals and the Delivery Program Actions. Each member of the management team will endeavour to enlist the support of staff as necessary to achieve the stated goals. Commitment of the Management Executive is vital to the implementation process.

3. Review and Report

Has Council achieved its objectives? If an objective was not achieved, why not?

The review process consists of:-

- Informal monitoring of activities by management and the Human Resources Section on an ongoing basis;
- Formal monthly reports by Human Resources Coordinator to Management Executive Meetings;
- Quarterly reports to Council on the implementation of the Operational Plan key performance indicators for Human Resources principal activities; and
- Formal review of policies, procedures and actions to evaluate the progress of the strategies and the outcomes achieved and report the same and outcomes to the Consultative Committee of Council and Ordinary Council Meetings.

Review of the Workforce Plan will be undertaken on an annual basis. The Human Resources Coordinator will review progress towards achievement of the Workforce Plan and report back to Department Directors. Feedback from all parties will be considered at the time of the review. The review will identify factors that impacted on the outcomes and evaluate the effectiveness of the plans.

4. Improve

What changes are needed to improve the plan? (e.g. objectives, strategies, timeframe)

The Workforce Plan includes a review process that involves identifying what needs to be improved and modifying the current plan. The Workforce Plan review may involve alterations because of changes in circumstances; such as the availability of funding or legislative changes or change may consist of alteration to the Council's strategic direction.

The improvement process will involve a SWOT Analysis to be undertaken by the Human Resources Coordinator and reported to senior management to implement further change management strategies.
